Owner Rainey Declines to Tell the Reason und Many Stories Are Afleat-Kentucky Beau the Latest Two-Year-Old Star-Stewards Set Down Romanelli.

F SARATOGA, Aug. 18.-The second week of the meeting here opened under conditions most favorable. There was a material improvement in the weather. It was cool and bright and with this was a card of generous proportions in which there was class enough to fill all requirements. As for the attendance it was up to the standard, in fact many new faces were noticed on the lawns and in the clubhouses. Few deser-tions have been reported, the continued success of the favorites prolonging the stay of many who had simply run up for a day or or many who had simply run up for a day or two. "On the line" where the layers hold forth there were some gaps caused by the absence of some of the fraternity who have been working on short bank rolls. The big fry are still in evidence and will be until the

The feature of the afternoon was the show-The feature of the afternoon was the showing made by Kentucky Beau from the stable of Woodford Clay. This son of Starshoot and Kentucky Belle showed at Brighton that he was a colt above the ordinary, but to-day he simply made an exhibition of his field running the entire distance fighting for his head The fact that it was a decidedly ordinary lot behind him failed to affect the glamor of his performance for hefore the afternoon of his performance, for before the afternoon was over his owner had received an offer of $20,000 for him and refused it, holding out for $60,000. The bid was said to have come from the partnership that races as the Newfrom the partnership that races as the New-castle Stable, of which Andrew Miller is the guiding hand.

It may be that this colt is worth the figure Mr. Clay puts on him, but nothing he has shown in public would justify any one paying $30,000 for him, even admitting that it is a year when extraordinary sums are being paid for thoroughbreds of very ordinary calibre. It is true that this colt is in the Futurity and that if he could win this one race and never another he would be a bargain, but in the big event at Sheepshead he will have to run against Conville, DeMund, Horace E., Jack Atkins, McCarter, Oran, Peter Pan, Water Pearl and a dozen others that have been tried in the best of company and proved worthy.

Jookey Radtke is on the suspended list and there is no telling when he will be in the saddle again. That is his employers have set him down and mean to keep him down for a while. As to the reason for this disciplining various tales are being told. All attempts to get a statement from his stable were fruit-

Mr. Rainey, who holds the contract for first call on his services, positively refused to make any explanation, in fact he insisted that the entire incident be passed over without even mention of it being made in the newspapers. One story is that Bud May, the trainer of the stable, found fault with the boy's riding of Horace E. and De Mund, and Radtke retaliated by saying that it was not the riding of the colts that beat them, but the manner in which they have been trained.
Another of the tales is that the boy refused to obey orders around the stable, and was punished for insubordination. Still another, and probably the correct one, is that the jockey has been drifting into bad habits and had reached a stage where heroic measures were needed. During the Brighton meeting reports reached Mr. Rainey that the meeting reports reached Mr. Rainey that the boy was spending money recklessly after hours. This was, of course, reported to Trainer May, who refused to believe it until evidence was produced, and then, when he made the attempt to show the boy what was expected of him, there was open rebellion Radtke has always been hard to handle, in fact not alone his employers but officials in all parts of the country have been forced to punish him at frequent intervals. James R. Keene has a second call on the James R. Keene has a second can on the rider's services, and it is a question what bearing Mr. Rainey's suspension will have on his use of the rider. Under the rules when a jockey is suspended by the starter or any of the other officials the ruling is absolute but this interpretation can hardly be applied to this case. For reasons of his own Mr Rainey has seen fit to keep the boy on the ground. Mr. Keene's papers probably reac that he shall have the boy's services wher they are not required by Mr. Rainey. Under existing conditions it looks as if Mr. Keen can demand his rights, that is should h see fit to do so. This matter will of cours be referred to the stewards, and their decisio will be awaited with interest as it is probabl the first time they have been called on t decide a point of this nature.

Jockey Romanelli will not ride here anywhere in future until the stewards of the Jockey Club pass on a case which will be handed to them by the officials in the stand here. Just after New Mown Hay had wor the fifth race this afternoon a ruling was issued that he had been suspended for the remainder of the meeting and his case referred. This comes as the result of his handling of the mare mentioned the last time she ran. In that race Romanelli had the mount and the stewards were far from satis fied with the jockey's work, but decided that as it was the mare's first time out in these parts to bide their time and see if their To-day Koerner was put up and the result was a very marked improvement, and to make the case particularly strong the three make the case particularly strong the three horses that beat her in last Thursday's race were behind her to-day under conditions more favorable to each of the trio. The case looks like a very plain one and it will be a great surprise if Romanelli does any riding for some years. for some years to come. There was a time when the revoking of a license was not a very serious thing; that is, after a few months there was a disposition to be lenient and the there was a disposition to be lenient and the offender was given another chance. Now-adays, however, it is not so easy to get clemency. The officials do not act until they have proof positive, and once on the black-list it is quite a task to get back in good standing. Romanelli has been riding for years, but he has kept pretty close to the small tracks. He has never been considered a first class rider; still there has always been a demand for his services and he has been able to earn a comfortable salary in fees.

Kassil is to be shipped to Billy Garth's farm at Charlottesville to-morrow. The horse was not hurt by his fail in Saturday's steeplechase, but in running around the field after the accident he collided with a wing of one of the jumps and cut himself hadly in half a dozen places. There is some fear that blood poisoning may set in, but otherwise with a long rest he is expected to pull through all right Terry, who has been riding the horse, will also go back to the farm. He is a young lad, only 16, and has had several bad falls in the last month, and a rest will do him good. Both horse and rider will probably be seen at the fall meetings at Pimlico and Bennings.

Merry Lark was entered to be sold for $1,000 in the Catskill Stakes, but when offered after the race no one made a bid. This looked like a bargain overlooked. The colt has been on the ailing list, but one that could run the race he did to-day and pull up sound looks cheap at three times the figure mentioned. James W. Wadsworth, one of the Gov. Higgins appointees as a member of the State Racing Commission, was at the track this afternoon. He has been resting on his farm at Geneseo since he left Washington after his hard work in connection with the Beef Trust inquiry. Fred Cook, the Western owner, arrived tonight. Minnie Adams, his Derby winner, and several more of the pick of his stable, will be shipped here in a few days. His jockey, Nicol, will be brought on to do the Sanfara's defeat to-day is apt to end the desire of the several who have been dickering for the mare; and yet it should not, for her for the mare; and yet it should not, for her showing was a very creditable one. She was conceding all the way from 14 to 38 pounds to her competitors; still finished a good second. One thing is certain, no one will be around offering $12,000 for her until she runs and wins again.

CATSKILL FOR MERRY LARK. Odds on Faverite Beats Disobedient With

SARATOGA, Aug. 13.—The Newcastle Stable's SARATOGA, Aug. 18.—The Newcastle Stable's Merry Lark, s to 40 favorite, experienced no trouble in winning the Catakill Selling Stakes, seven furlongs, to-day. Miller had the mount and Merry Lark was in hand all the way, finishing two lengths in front of Disobedient, quoted at 15 to 1. Red Leaf, 6 to 1, came from the ruck in the last furlong and took third money, a length and a half back. Merry Lark ran the distance in 1:26 2-5. Fustian had early appead.

The talent made Sanfara, the top weight, a 9 to 5 favorite in the handicap for threea 9 to 5 favorite in the handicap for three-year-olds, seven furlongs, but W. F. Schulte's Zienap, 6 to 1, proved too much for the West-ern mare, who was easily beaten by a couple of lengths in 126 1-5. Hampered by a bad start, Belle of Pequest, 5 to 2, ran a fine race and took third money, two and a half lengths back. August Belmont's $30,000 Oaklawn made his first appearance of the season in this event and, going up to 20 to 1, he finished absolutely last with Miller in the saddle. The Bonnie Brook Stable's Champ Elysees, 13 to 10 favorite, avoided the early pace in 13 to 10 favorite, avoided the early pace in the steeplechase over the short course, but drew away rapidly on the flat after the last jump, winning in a gallop by three lengths in 4:25. W. G. Brokaw's Waterford, backed down to 8, who made most of the running finished second, four lengths before Pirate 8 to 1. Allegiance, 16 to 5, quit in the last quarter.

Miller rode Woodford Clay's Kentucky Beau, odds on favorite, to victory in the third race, for two-year-old fillies and geldings, five and a half furlongs, the Star Shoot gelding breezing past the judges four lengths before Altuda, 8 to 1. Dulcinea, a 40 to 1 shot, took third place from Louis Gella's Clara Huron, quoted at the same odds, by a head. H. P. Whitney's Killaice, 8 to 1, was close up. The race was run in 1:07.

In a rattling finish New Mown Hay, 7 to 2 favorite, won the fifth race, at a mile, by a head. This mare showed marked improvement over her previous race and stood a hard drive from Koerner, who made his run at the head of the stretch. Choik Hedrick led for a quarter of a mile and then stopped, Yorkshire Lad, 5 to 1, taking command at that point and finally running into the place a head before Woolwich, 5 to 1. The time was 1:98 2-5.

SPOKANE WINS FIRST TRIAL

NEW YORK BOAT OUTSAILS HER EASTERN RIVALS.

Designer Clinton H. Crane Handles Winner in Race to Select Craft to Meet Germans-Vim, Another New York Yacht, Makes Great Showing Hefore the Wind. MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Aug. 13.—It was New York's day in the trial races of the sonder-class boats. The Spokane, designed by Clinton H. Crane of New York, built by Frank

Woods at City Island and sailed by Mr. Crane, beat all the Eastern bouts which have been sailed here in nineteen races in all. Over a triangular course of fifteen miles she won by 1 minute 47 seconds from the Hayseed III.

The first leg was to windward. Mr. Crane showed rare good judgment in standing off shore rather than working in toward the land. He found a better breeze, which more land. He found a better breeze, which more than offset the smooth water nearer the shore, and at the end of the five mile turn to windward the Spokane was leading by 55 seconds. It was then a reach of five miles. The wind had hauled two points, making it close by the wind, and the Windrim Kid caught up with wind, and the Windrim Kid caught up with the Spokane and took the lead by five seconds

The third leg was down the wind with spinnakers, and on this leg the Spokane took the lead, again and finally won the race.
She is owned by Vice-Commodore F. Lewis Clark of the Eastern Yacht Club. In every way, except that Commodore Clark pays the bills, the Spokane is a New York boat, and to have beaten the Eastern cracks is quite a feather in the cap of Mr. Crane.

The other New York boat was the Vim, designs by William Gardner. On the wind-owned by Commodore Trenor L. Park of the American Yacht Club and built from designs by William Gardner. On the windward leg Fleet Captain C. Bucknam, who sailed the yacht, made the mistake of standing in toward the shore. He followed the example of such good sailors as Charles Francis Adams 2d, E. A. Boardman, F. G. Macomber, Jr., and Lawrence Percival, and in doing this was badly left.

Early in the turn to windward the Vim had weathered the Spokane, and thinking that the Auk, sailed by G. F. Adams, was his most dangerous rival. Mr. Bucknam went after that boat. Reaching on the second leg the Vim made a fairly good showing, but running down the wind she beat every other boat in the fleet badly, and after the end of the race the Eastern men declared that the New York boats were to be considered as dangerous rivals for the home boats and that they would be still more prominent before the trial races ended.

the Eastern men declared that the New York boats were to be considered as dangerous rivals for the home boats and that they would be still more prominent before the trial races ended.

The Sally VIII., which had such a good record in races sailed earlier in the season, was last but one at the finish. Other boats that had shown well and were considered dangerous failed to come up to the expectations of their friends.

The race was held to decide which three are the best to select to meet the German boats in the race for the Roosevelt cup, which is to be sailed next month. Seventeen yachts were built for these trial races and two of last year's boats were altered to allow them to fit the class. All the seventeen new ones started. The race was sailed in a wind from the east of moderate strength. Later in the day the wind hauled to the east southeast, but the change did not materially affect any boat's chances.

There was quite a rough sea for boats of the size of the sonderclass and the day altogether was one that showed the boats up well under conditions that do not often prevail. It was a day, too, when the freak type of boat was at a disadvantage and the saner model was at an advantage. The scow well in turning to windward, while the boat with moderate overhains was able to go through the water easily and so make good headway.

The regatta committee of the Eastern Yacht Club, Henry Howard, Louis and George Atkinson, Jr., left the clubhouse on the tug Pallas at 9:30 o'clock. The tug flew the Eastern Yacht Club, Henry Howard, Louis and George Atkinson, Jr., left the clubhouse on the tug Pallas at 9:30 o'clock. Windrim Kid at this time was leading the inshore division, with the Bonidrei next, followed by the Vim. The Spokane, offshore, still kept the port tack, having gained a good advantage, and at noon appeared to be the leader in the race. She made one or two short tacks and then stood for the mark, and it was soon seen that she was ahead of the Windrim Kid, the leader of the inshore division. The Sumatra overstood the mark, and some of the inshore boats, including the Sally and Vim, got into a soft spot and lost all they expected to gain through getting in smoother water and the advantage of getting the wind freeing a little as it drew off the land. The times taken as they turned the first mark and the clapsed times for the first leg of the course, with the gain made by the Spokane over each boat, is shown in the following:

after the linish, protested the Bonidrei. The Bonidrei tried to force the Vim while the latter was on the starboard tack and had the right of way. The Vim struck the Bonidrei's stern and damaged it somewhat, and caught her bowsprit in the main sheet of that boat, so that both twisted around some time before they got clear.

TWO GAMES FROM PIRATES, FIVE STRAIGHT IN ALL.

Clever Work in Various Departments by the New Yorks—Chicagos Climb All Over the Brooklyns, Taking the Entire Series-Reds Shut Out by Quakers.

Barring the bungle of last Tuesday when they forfeited, the New Yorks yesterday wound up a series with the Western teams which was very successful. On the eve of their departure for the West they took a double header from the Pittsburgs, cleaning up the entire five games of the series, and, including the last game in Pittsburg, making six straight from the Pirates. Three runs in five games were all the Pirates scored. Thirteen victories out of sixteen games is New York's record since returning home. The Chicagos made it four straight from the Brooklyns, the leaders losing only two games on the Eastern trip. The Quakers shut out the luckless Reds. The results:

that was consistently effective, businesslike use of the bat and fielding that did not yield a particle in the face of the attack, handed the double dose to the Pittsburgs.

Barring a four flush klok by Bowerman, who was ejected from the second game for scolding over a called strike that was perfect, the games were cleanly played, and that appealed to all who take a sane view of sport. There is no doubt of the ability of the Champions to play high class ball, and no doubt of the fact that they play so much the better when they flag their umpire baiting. The Pittsburg series showed that.

Wiltse made the ball hum and dart and talk in the first game, and it talked the Pirates to thorough defeat. Stand three planks on end within touching distance, push the first one and all three will go down together. That is the way Wiltse tumbled the Pittsburgs after the first inning. Clarke's two bagger, Meier's sacrifice and Beaumont's bingle gave the Pittsburgs a run in the first inning, which scoring feat was the shooting of the Pittsburg bolt.

The New Yorks took the lead with two round trips in the third. Sammy Strang slung his bat with the same facility with which heislings ink and slung a single to centre. Mathewson bunted a fiv to Willis, but Shannon, a powerful batting influence the livelong day, bumped an infield single toward second. Browne hit to Ritchey, who fumbled and then lost his head, He had plenty of time to throw to second and catch Shannon after he recovered the ball, but threw to first too late to nio the speedy Browne. Breanahan pierced the infield with a single that scored Strang, and on Seymour's sacrifice bunt to Nealon Shannon scored.

The fifth inning completed the shearing of the Pirates and also climinate Willis from the strife. Wiltse was sate on Nealon's error. The handy Shannon singled to left, Browne sacrificed, Breanahan lined a hit to left, Seymour walked, and Devlin and McGann joined in the merrymaking with hits. Four men scored, and one more would have scored had Seymour been alert and sel

CHICAGO (N. L.), 11: BROOKLYN, 3.

There was nothing to vesterday's game at Washington Park but the Chicagos once they got started. They did not really assert themselves until the sixth inning, when they batted Eason out of the box and snatched the lead away from the Brooklyns. Pastorious failed to check them, and they made ten of their eleven runs in the last four innings, six of the ten off Pastorious. Jack Taylor was not in good form for the Cubs, and was driven to the bench in the third inning. The Brooklyns could not do anything with Overall. Pitcher McFarland has been released by

AMERICAN LEAGUE. New Yorks Tie With Chicagos; Philadelphia Win and Lose, Win and Lese.

The best the New York Americans could do yesterday to wind up a Western trip on which they made a poor showing was to play a scoreless tie with the Chicagos. However, they are coming home within easy striking distance of first place and with as good a chance for the pennant as anybody. The Philadelphias, who were bumped good and hard in the West, broke their long losing streak in St. Louis, but lost the second game of a double header. The Clevelands downed the Washingtons, and the revivified Bostons humbled the Detroits. The results:

National Tennis Champion Easily Wins H First Match at Southampton.

SOUTHAMPTON, Aug. 13.—From the momes of poeting the draw of the classic Meader Club lawn tennis tournament to-day it we evident that the meeting was to be a bath for supremacy between young comers and the seasoned title holders. Five matches were decided in the singles this afternoon but all resulted according to form.

William A. Larned, the national champion, and different according to form. provided an unusually clever display of drie ing and swift volleying for the fashional gallery that crowded the clubhouse verming the defeated Alexander Amend of the Engletic Wood, Field Club, and the Company of the Engletic Club, and the Engletic Clu wood Field Club, 6-1 and 6-0.

Larned's game was helped out greatly w the splendid condition of the field of the back of the sanddunes. The surface was hard and true as a billiard table, from the closely cropped turfand the ball came of attentions.
